Travel and Expenses Guide - FY27

This guide covers how to book and claim business travel in financial year 2027: booking channels, mileage, daily allowances, rail and taxi use. It was issued on 15 June 2026 and revised on 1 July 2026 for the new mileage rate, and applies to all staff travelling for client or firm business.

Booking

- Book flights, rail and hotels through the firm travel portal at least 14 days ahead where possible.
- Economy class applies to all domestic flights. Flights over 6 hours may use premium economy with manager approval.
- Hotels must be on the preferred list unless none is within reasonable distance of the client site.
- Spend above the pre-approval threshold in the Expense Policy Summary still needs manager approval before booking.

Mileage

Personal car mileage is reimbursed at $0.70 per mile from 1 July 2026. Record the start point, end point, purpose and miles driven for each trip. Commuting from home to your usual office is not claimable.

Daily allowance

Meal or item	Domestic rate	Notes
Breakfast	$18	Only if not provided by the hotel
Lunch	$22	Per working day away from base
Dinner	$45	Overnight stays only
Incidentals	$10	Per night away

Rail and taxi

Standard class rail is the default. Use taxis or ride share only when public transport is unavailable, when travelling with heavy equipment, or after 9 pm. Keep the receipt and note the reason on the claim. Airport transfers should use rail or the shuttle where one exists.

Claiming

Submit travel claims within 30 days of return. Attach receipts for every item over $25 and a mileage log where applicable.
